DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

New corrected drawings are required in this application because those filed with the application are informal. Applicant is advised to employ the services of a competent patent draftsman outside the Office, as the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office no longer prepares new drawings. The corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The requirement for corrected drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

Claims 4 and 21 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form. These claims attempt to further limit the type of air conditioning system, however, that system is not a positively claimed element of the independent claim and cannot, therefore, be further limited.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 18 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Art Unit: 1744

The recitation of "said reflectors" in both of these claims, lack proper antecedent basis. The reflectors are not set forth until claim 8, however, these two claims depend from claim 6.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mazzilli U.S. patent No. 5,523,057 in view of Haidinger et al., U.S. patent No. 5,505,904.

Mazzilli teaches an apparatus for retrofitting an air conditioning system such as that in a residence, wherein a housing is provided for insertion within the system ducting. The housing contains a source of ultraviolet light in the form of fixture-mounted lamps, which are driven by remotely located ballasts. The housing includes aluminum reflective components, as well as means indicating activation of the lamps. The housing has access means which are coupled to a safety switch to prevent entry therein during lamp operation. An air pressure switch is also provided which works in conjunction with the remotely positioned power pack for controlled activation of the lamps when air flow is sensed. See column 5, line 35 through column 6, line 40.

Haidinger et al., teach an air disinfection unit having UVC lamps, as is well known in the art, but also utilizing fluorescent fixture ballasts to energize the lamps because such ballasts allow the lamps to run at higher energy levels with increased bactericide activity with substantially less heat generation. See column 4, lines 40-55.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to utilize the fluorescent ballast means of Haidinger et al., within the air disinfection system of Mazzilli because such ballasts allow the lamps to run at higher energy levels with increased bactericide activity with substantially less heat generation.

With respect to claims 1, 6, 10 and 29, Haidinger et al., is silent as to the conversion specifications of the ballasts, however, they are conventional ballasts and would therefore provide intrinsically provide such specifications.
